Course Description:

This course introduces you to the fascinating subject of economics. We will talk about the market forces of supply and demand, the effects of government policies and welfare, the theory of consumer choice, firm production decisions in different industrial organizations such as competitive markets, monopoly, monopolistic competition, and oligopoly. We'll also talk about economics of public sector, the labor market (if time allows) and many other interesting and practical economic topics. You will have a taste of the history of economic thought and get acquainted with the ideas of Adam Smith, David Ricardo and other great economic thinkers. You will also be exposed to real world economic problems through case studies and analysis of current economic issues. As a result, you should be able to apply economic theories to solve problems, utilize your newly gained knowledge to analyze real world situations, do your own reading and research and communicate economic ideas in group presentations.

Course Objectives:

By the end of this semester, you should have a very good understanding of economic principles, be able to reason economically both orally and in writing using economic theories, evaluate government policy, understand policy debates and formulate informed opinions on current economic issues. The course meets other university and institute objectives by: 1) utilizing real world examples to stimulate student interest, 2) encouraging critical thinking, 3) incorporating oral presentations and class discussion into the course.

Required Texts: None. If interested and have time, you can read any popular textbooks available for Microeconomics and feel free to discuss with me if you have questions. For homework, studios and exams, use my lecture notes PPT for materials covered.

Course Website:

We'll use blackboard to make announcement, distribute lecture notes, homework problems and answer keys, etc. Make sure to check the course page on blackboard frequently to stay updated.

Course QQ group:

We also have a course QQ group managed by the head TA, Wei Yi. That is the other place where we may make announcements. You could also ask questions and have discussions. Instead of holding office hours in a physical location, the TAs will be available to answer course-related questions through QQ.

Course materials are for your personal usage only, do not post online or share with people outside of the class. *****

The following information on Course Requirements, Exams, Studio Work, Group Presentation, and Grading apply to regular in-class teaching/learning environment. If we need to do extended period of online teaching/learning, the course would be structured differently to include more online activities in the learning process. Will make adjustment and revise the syllabus if necessary. *****

Course Requirements:

- Preview lecture notes briefly before class
- Be focused and actively participate in class discussion
- Review after class, use handouts, practice questions and application problems for practice, raise questions if any
- Try to apply course material to analyze real world situations
- Work in groups, research on an economic event/history/news/topic, present your work in an in-class group presentation
- Be on time, and keep your cell phones off during class time
- Uphold Academic Honesty: cheating in a quiz or assignment/presentation will result in a 0 for it. Cheating in an exam will result in an F for the course.

Exams:

One Midterm and one Final, noncumulative. 60 Multiple choice questions in 2 hours.

Studio Work:

In some of the weeks, we'll do studio work when you solve questions on the chapters covered in the weeks before. No makeup studio work will be given. If you have a legitimate reason to miss a class, make sure to email me and cc your class counselor beforehand.

Homework:

You'll be given (1) multiple choice questions and (2) problem and application questions for practice. Working on those problems should have a positive effect on your studio and exam scores. You're responsible for managing your time properly and work on your own using those practice problems, homework will not be collected. Answer key will be provided. If there's any question, feel free to raise them in class, ask the TA through QQ, or come to my office hours.

Group Presentation:

You'll have the opportunity to build a team of 3-4 students, pick out an interested topic, research about it as a team, and do a 9-minute presentation to the class. The presentations will be scheduled in week 15 and week 16. Each group should discuss with me about your topic and pick the time of your presentation on the first come first serve basis. The booking will start on Monday November 13th at 1pm and will close on Friday November 24th at 11:30am. You will not be able to schedule a presentation if you miss the booking deadline, and you will not be able to re-schedule unless you can find a team to switch with you. Not doing a presentation will have the same result as not turning in a homework or not showing up for an exam, you'll have a grade of zero for the presentation. Your group presentation will be graded by the class (34%) and me (66%). Your personal grade will depend on your team's grade and your share of workload.

Grading:

- Attendance and Participation: 4%
- Studio Work: 15%
- Group Presentation: 15%
- Midterm Exam: 33%
- Final Exam: 33%
- Extra Credit: Contribution in Class Discussion up to 2%
